

THE STEVE FUND

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

The Steve Fund recognizes the importance of supporting colleges, universities and nonprofits in implementing practical strategies described in the Equity in Mental Health Framework (EMHF) developed in collaboration with our partner, JED. We're eager to partner with colleges, universities, and non-profits as they explore, develop, implement, evolve and scale-up much-needed programs and services for the emotional well-being and mental health of students of color. To this end, working with noted multicultural mental health experts, we offer a suite of technical assistance services which we hope will be of assistance.

- ▶ Technical Assistance for Administration, Staff, and Faculty in Assessing Gaps: The Steve Fund can advise campus and organizational leaders on how to identify gaps in their programs and services to promote the mental health of students of color.
- ▶ Support for Clinical Care: The Steve Fund can help campuses and organizations build evidence-based practices into programs focused on the mental health and well-being of college students of color. Experts from The Steve Fund can also support campuses in building adaptations to existing programs and collecting and disseminating data regarding the impacts of these new programs.
- ▶ Research Development for Programming: The Equity in Mental Health Framework's recommendations propose that campuses regularly collect data from students, faculty, and administrators. The Steve Fund has a team of skilled academic researchers with expertise in mental health disparities, clinical research, mixed methods research and approaches to engaging hard to reach populations. The Steve Fund will collaborate to design and implement a research program to build relevant research for on-campus services development, implementation, and evaluation.
- ▶ Human Capital for Diversity on Campus: The Steve Fund can collaborate with Human Resource administrators and others with hiring roles to support strategy development for recruitment of diverse faculty and professional staff, emphasizing alignment to the identities represented within the student body.
